Tampa, FL – 407.203.7592

Orlando, FL

Alicia Caridi has 22 years of experience defending industry clients and individuals with representation in three states. She has litigated, mediated, and taken to trial personal auto and commercial transportation cases as well as premises liability cases from homeowners to business owners as well as various industries and associations with a special focus on the amusement, sports, and entertainment fields.

Alicia has been active in risk and crisis management for her clients, including drafting legislation and assisting in its passage by testifying to Senate committees. She also sits on various boards with voting privileges as to industry standards and guidelines.

Transportation

In the transportation area, Alicia has overseen litigation in several jurisdictions and successfully navigated protections in large discovery demands.

Premises Liability

Alicia has won defense verdicts with findings of zero liability against homeowners and has succeeded in dismissals by summary judgment as to no issue of fact and as to lack of duty or lack of breach on behalf of corporate entities and nonprofits including summer camps, skate rinks, and water parks.
