Boston, MA – 617.422.5306

Dana Goheen represents businesses and individuals in commercial and complex tort litigation. His practice focuses on premises liability, transportation liability, construction liability, product liability, professional liability, general liability and employment liability defense. Dana represents employers before administrative state agencies, defending claims of discrimination and retaliation. Dana also has experience in crisis management and working with individuals under government investigation.

Before joining Wilson Elser, Dana worked at a Massachusetts defense firm where he represented individuals and large and small businesses in all aspects of complex tort litigation. Prior to that, Dana served as an Assistant District Attorney with the Suffolk County District Attorney's Office in Boston. In that role, he was the lead prosecutor on numerous District Court and Superior Court jury trials; headed complex grand jury investigations with state, local and federal law enforcement agencies; and was a member of the Homicide Response team, responding to active death investigations across Suffolk County.
