Douglas Reinbold specializes in professional liability, construction litigation, industrial accidents, and commercial disputes. His extensive practice includes representing professionals, contractors, businesses, and insurers in high-stakes matters requiring strategic problem-solving and skilled advocacy.

Doug has a proven track record of handling complex cases from inception through resolution, including trials and appeals in state and federal courts. He has successfully defended professionals against claims of negligence and malpractice, resolved disputes involving construction defects, delays, and contract breaches, and handled industrial accident cases involving significant injury or property damage.

Known for his meticulous preparation and strategic insight, Doug excels in tailoring resolutions to each client's unique circumstances. His ability to distill complex legal issues and communicate them effectively to judges, juries, and opposing counsel is a hallmark of his practice. Clients value Doug's responsiveness, dedication, and unwavering commitment to protecting their interests.

In addition to trial work, Doug has a wealth of appellate experience, ensuring that clients' cases are effectively represented at all stages of litigation.

Before returning to private practice, Doug worked in the legal invoice audit department at a major insurance company. In this role, he managed the review and analysis of legal billing practices to ensure compliance with company guidelines and industry standards. Drawing on this experience, Doug brings a unique perspective to representing insurers and insureds, offering practical, cost-effective resolutions while maintaining the highest standards of legal service.
