New Orleans, LA – 504.372.6706

Eduardo Rondon Ramones focuses his practice on maritime and admiralty matters, drawing on legal and industry experience in the shipping and energy sectors.

During law school, Eduardo served as a legal intern with an international container shipping company and a major regional natural gas provider, gaining exposure to the legal and business issues affecting regulated industries. He also completed a maritime law program in Greece and a semester exchange at Université Paris-Panthéon-Assas in France.

Born and raised in Venezuela, Eduardo is fluent in Spanish and French. His international background and language skills complement his maritime focus.
