Nashville, TN – 615.324.7840

Kevin Francese represents insurance companies in complex litigation involving liability and negligence issues. Kevin also is well versed in employment law matters on the plaintiff and defense sides, and has practiced in state and federal courts on an array of employment and labor issues. He has substantial experience with the EEOC in discrimination suits against employers.

In addition, Kevin has defended property owners in boundary line disputes and worked a real estate case where a boundary dispute/adverse possession action was dismissed in favor of his clients.

Kevin consistently implements effective discovery and depositions, often asking questions that turn out to be pivotal for the case, and often achieves results in mediation above the client's best expectations.
