San Francisco, CA – 415.625.9288

Neca Aguilar-Gomez focuses her practice on toxic tort and insurance defense matters. She works with insureds and corporate clients in the defense of silica and other exposure-related claims.

Neca also brings experience supporting in-house legal and compliance teams, including drafting commercial contracts and related agreements. Before joining Wilson Elser, she worked in biopharmaceutical compliance, where she developed a practical understanding of highly regulated industries and the compliance challenges faced by corporate organizations.

Drawing on both her litigation and compliance experience, Neca approaches matters with an emphasis on responsive communication, practical problem-solving, and efficient resolution strategies.
