

Pamela H. Langro

Of Counsel

pamela.langro@wilsonelser.com

New York, NY – 212.915.5728

Pamela Langro defends some of the largest metropolitan-based hospitals, health care systems, medical facilities, physicians, and other health care professionals in high-exposure, complex medical malpractice claims. Pamela manages these cases from inception to disposition, including advocating in court, drafting motions, conducting depositions, and preparing for trials. She has drafted successful dispositive motion practice in cases of high sustainable value and diligently guides her clients through the litigation process.

Pamela has extensive litigation and in-court experience. She also has experience in construction litigation, premises liability, and general liability matters, including in the defense of New York Labor Law claims on behalf of owners, developers, general contractors, and their agents. Pamela has achieved certification in Wilson Elser's rigorous Mock Trial Invitational, through which our most successful trial lawyers impart their knowledge to those destined to join their ranks.

While in law school, Pamela participated in the New York City Law Department Federal Civil Litigation Clinic where she managed a caseload involving federal civil rights claims against the City of New York and its employees.
