Los Angeles, CA – 213.330.8933

Sam Goli is a civil litigator whose practice focuses on defending individuals and businesses in a wide range of disputes. He regularly represents clients in matters involving general liability, premises liability, habitability and landlord-tenant issues, health care litigation, and business litigation.

Sam handles cases from inception through trial, with experience across all phases of litigation, including early case assessment, pleadings, written discovery, depositions, law and motion practice, settlement negotiations, and trial preparation. His approach emphasizes efficient early case evaluation, identifying opportunities for early resolution when appropriate while simultaneously advocating zealously and strategically to protect his clients' interests throughout the case.

Prior to joining Wilson Elser, Sam represented and advised corporate and individual clients in all aspects of commercial and business litigation matters involving real estate, shareholder distributions, and asset purchase agreements.
