Tyler Cortinas is a skilled litigator who represents clients in commercial and complex tort litigation. His practice focuses on the defense of claims involving general liability, premises liability, product liability, personal injury, transportation, and trucking liability. Tyler effectively manages cases through all stages of litigation from inception to trial, providing clients with strong, results-driven advocacy.

Before joining Wilson Elser, Tyler honed his litigation skills at a regional law firm, where he defended clients against various claims, including slip-and-fall incidents, non-subscriber litigation, and automobile preventative maintenance disputes across the state of Texas.
