Houston, TX – 713.353.2050

Zainab Tarique practices in the area of general civil litigation, primarily defending clients in personal injury matters, contract disputes, construction defect litigation, premises liability, product liability and other general negligence matters. She has considerable experience defending personal injury matters, including catastrophic injury and fatalities.

Zainab joined Wilson Elser from a Texas defense firm focusing on insurance matters in trucking and transportation, construction defects, premises liability, product liability and commercial litigation. Prior to that, she gained personal injury experience on the plaintiff side with a Texas firm, enabling her to creatively formulate solid litigation approach. Zainab is dedicated to providing tailored representation and takes a proactive approach to clients' unique litigation needs.

During her time in law school, Zainab served as a judicial intern for the Honorable Frances H. Stacy in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas.
